$2,700,000

Is What It Cost To Make a New Full-glistening Champion.

(From the New York Sun.)

In regard to the amount of expenditure of money in the United States brought about by the championship fight between James Corbett and Robert Fitzsimmons, at Carson City, Nev., last Wednesday, was $2,700,000, apportioned, according to careful estimates, as follows:

Fees to telegraph companies for ticks and telegrams	$1,000,000
and private despatches	$1,000,000
Railroad fees, steamship fees, and other money expended in transportation	1,000,000
Extra cost to newspapers for horse cars, news from Europe, average cost $10,000	1,000,000
Commission of pool-sellers	70,000
Traveling expenses	10,000
Cost of rings	10,000
Extra cost to newspapers to hearth owners, aids from Europe, average cost $10,000	10,000
Expenses in hotels, saloons, billiard-rooms and places of amusement around and in Carson City	10,000
Profits of wine-brokers in commissions and understandings	10,000
Total	$2,700,000

These estimates, so far as the traveling and incidental expenses go, are based on the reported attendance of 5,000 strangers in the Nevada town, an odd assemblage of people, which has been aptly termed a national convention of gamblers, prostitutes, and other persons who spent all the delegates' constituency who stayed at home. No account is made of the vast sums of money bet and lost and many other items which might rightly be included in expenditures.

All things considered, the estimates are low, but the sum is large enough to furnish food for interesting and shaming reports to the public, and to bring shame to the American people to see and hear about a brutal fight to the finish between two human beings! $2,700,000 squandered with no laudable purpose in view!

The fight lasted just fifty-three and a half minutes, including all intermissions. That means that it cost the people of the United States $50,407.29 a minute.

There are 60,000 unemployed men in New York at the present time who are willing to work.

The money spent on the fight would give each one of them employment for a month at a day. It would buy each of them three pairs of clothes.

It would give each one of their families $3 worth of food and clothing for a month.

It would help poor families, reduce the entire population of Greater New York, and last for a month at a month.

It would pay the house rent for $20,000 for a month at a month.

It would pay the gas bills of $1,500,000 families for a month at a month.

Indeed, it would be a family, if we may say the tent gas bills of the States of New York and Minnesota at the same rate.

The money spent on that fifty-three and a half minutes fight would found and support a great many schools. It would establish a half dozen great hospitals.

It would found and endow as great an art gallery as any in the country. It would build fifty theaters or establish a great public park. It would capitate nine banks like the second National of New York.

But there is no need of concluding. The fact is that $2,700,000 would do any number of good things, none of which, unfortunately, this particular $2,700,000 did.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 28, 1897.—I was afflicted with a tired feeling and general debility. I had no appetite and my blood did not seem to circulate. I took different kinds of medicines without benefit, and finally began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gave me a good appetite and entirely cured that tired feeling—Maggie Washington, 40 Verter St., New York.

CONVERTED.

Story of How a Headstrong Banker Was Converted to Free Silver.

(From the Orchard Messenger)

Mr. David Banks, cashier of the Planters bank at Henderson, who was in the city yesterday, is one of those rare men of his business—a free silverite. Mr. Banks tells quite an interesting story of his conversion to the free silver theory. He was born in the old state of Kentucky. He was a man of great standard education and attended the headstrong bankers and listened to gold-standard arguments until he thought free silver the rankest heresy. But as he became more absorbed in the subject during the last campaign he commenced reading more thoroughly on the subject, expecting to fortify himself in his gold standard theories. He did not do this, however, in the conviction of his position, the skeptical and, finally, discovering that the whole structure of the gold standard argument was based upon statistics prepared by the treasury department that were false and misleading, he became convinced that he was wrong and that one of the most earnest and enlightened 16 to 18 silverites in the country—H. H. Bancroft, banker, who clings to the gold standard idea, stand in their own light; that it is a shortsighted policy, ridiculous to the banks as well as the people.

Mr. Banks' experience in conscientiously studying the money question, laying all prejudices and preconceived notions aside, is that of many another student of great economic question, and bankers and great economists of gold and silver who have been converted as he has—notably the late Barker St. John—but conversions from silver to gold are very rare. During the last campaign, the gold managers went to the celebrated Louisville lawyer, Joseph T. Osual, and asked him to make some speeches for their side. Mr. Osual said he would do it; that he was for "sound money"—it sounds big and wise to avariciously exacting men for sound money, but you don't know thinking about it, but he said he was hardly well enough posted to talk before an audience on the subject and he would have to read up a little. Well, he commenced "reading up," and the more he read, the more firmly convinced he became that the gold standard was wrong and indefensible, and it was the first time he had ever heard of "sound money" and never was an amateur or more hypocritical expression coined—Joe Osual joined the "silver lunatics," "anarchists" and revolutionists, and made silver speeches throughout the campaign, and now he is one of the incorporators and directors in the new Democratic paper on to be started in Louisville.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Miller, of Worthington, Ind., writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can heartily recommend for Consipitory and Sick Headache, and as a general systemic remedy it has no equal." Mrs. Anna Smith, of Louisville, says: "I spent all the delegate's constituency who stayed at home. No account is made of the vast sums of money bet and lost and many other items which might rightly be included in expenditures."

FOR SENATOR.

We are authorized to announce ELIJAH ANTHONY, a candidate for the State Senate, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

It is estimated that the Jackson and Walling trial cost the State $6,000.

SPEAKER Blanford is voting for "Gum-shoe" Hunter for United States Senator.

The importers are getting ready for the new tariff by importing large quantities of goods.

There is still talk at Frankfort that Gov. Bradley intends to resign, but there are probably no grounds for such rumor.

If the politicians and callipygian-hounds will take a hard seat for months this country would get all right.

Louisville's new paper, the Daily Dispatch, will make it's debut about April 15, so says President Allen Carter.

Four free silver members of Congress from Louisiana are supporting the Dingley tariff bill, because the bill puts a tax on sugar.

BRECKENRIDGE county Republicans haven't any good feeling for Governor Bradley. They don't like the way he is treating Hunter.

The tariff bill is now before Congress for consideration. It is almost certain to become a law. It is said that it will increase the revenue $13,000,000.

Mr. John Evans is favorably mentioned for the State Senate. John is too busy farming, buying tobacco, ties, hams and staves to fool with politics. Besides he don't want it.

You don't think Dick Owen is popular, all you have to do is step over into his home district. They are all for him. When a man's people stand by him you may put it down that he is all right.

Tariff Louisville Democrats have called a convention for April 22, to nominate a city ticket. The Evening Post which used its influence two years ago to defeat Wm Hardin for Governor has come into the ring fighting for harmony.

Some sound money Democrats who helped elect McKinley are still hanging about the White House at Washington hoping to receive an appointment of some kind. But it is said that the new President not only fails to recognize their qualifications but is slapping those already in the service and filling those places with staunch Republicans.

The farmers are putting in their best ticks and good weather. The country is fairly all green, plowed and sown, and rows preparing the ground for crops. Wheat is looking fine, the farmers are in good spirits and are going to work in earnest. Such a crop of everything as we will have this year will drive into oblivion every vestige of hard times and everybody will be happy and prosperous. All we want to do is to get down to our work, put in our best ticks and Providence will do the rest.

Local merchants of this town will take a trip to Louisville next week who some find out what goes on with regard to their trade that use to come to them. Kirk Jolly's station and Glendale have captured it. At Kirk last Saturday it looked like a circus had struck the place. The woods were full of houses, wagons and buggies and the town was full of people. Hardinsburg suffers along. Cloverport in this respect. Good roads is what we need and must have if we ever hope to get back our old trade from that section.

The Kentucky Legislature had been in session several weeks. Every one had lost a bet that they would not elect a United States Senator, without the necessary majority to elect any one. The leading candidates, Hunter and Bradley, and their friends are at loggerheads, and from present indications there is not likely to be an election at all. The politicians are in the saddle, and the people are paying the bill. Little do they know for the interest of the constituents and the good name of the State. The whole thing is a general scramble to get some favorite candidate elected, irrespective of the desires of the people. Such a wilful abuse of confidence is a costly experiment. But the situation is not likely to improve until the people make a better choice of their Representatives.

Discourses and Advice on the State of Politics in Meade.

He Wants a Better State of Morals

Meade News:—In a recent issue of the Meade County Messenger appeared quite a salutary communication from Mr. J. T. Jones, of Elizabethtown. I enclose it, as I think his main intention, I feel that his present purpose is not quite so good. Yet we quote from his letter: "He says it is a very plain fact that there is no use for any man to run for office unless he is willing to use means that are far beneath the dignity of a man of sense. He does not mean that the art that he will be defeated as sure as anyone comes out against him, who will use the vile and corrupt means that are being used more and more every year in the fair land of ours."

Brother Jones, that is saying in so many words, that the political candidate in your recent Democratic primary used corrupt and vile means to win their nomination. Did you mean to make such a charge? If the facts as bad as you represent them (and I believe they are), why do you urge Democratic citizens of Meade county, to "rally round the party" at regular election and vote for every candidate who was nominated at the primary?

Therefore, brother Jones, I say I like, not your present, but your future purpose only, which is "to be one of an organization of men, who will pledge themselves by a 'solemn vow' that shall take effect only after the next election, for any man, who uses any means, to vote for the nominees at the regular election."

You evidently mean that the organization, you favor forming, shall bind themselves by a "solemn vow" that shall take effect only after the next election, for any man, who uses any means, to vote for the nominees at the regular election.

Toppling Rheumatism.

Now brother Jones, why not have these "solemn vows" taken effect at once? Why wait for some future time for these vows to take effect? St. Paul says "Now is the acceptable time, now is the day of salvation." If it is for this reason, brother Jones, that I urge your presentation very defective. You probably have not reasoned carefully on the matter, or you would not urge men now to do something in the next election which you want them to take a "solemn vow" never to do in any future election. Don't you see we are now in the position you are putting yourself in before the public?

If voting for men or officers, who used that "abominable staff called whiskey," to influence voters to give them the nominations in so wicked and heinous an offence that you would urge men to hide themselves by a "solemn vow" not to do it, then I would urge you to urge all Democrats to vote for such a man in the next regular election? Will you answer that question, Mr. Jones? At the same time, if you can conscientiously urge Democrats to vote at the regular election for nominees who won their nomination by using "that abominable staff called whiskey," then I would urge men to bind themselves by a "solemn vow" not to do it in the future?

Certainly, you cannot urge your fellow citizens to bind themselves by a "solemn vow" not to do a thing, in future, which is all right for them to do now. Frankly, Mr. Jones, do you think it is right to support men for office even now, in this good year of our Lord, 1897, who procure their nominations by the lavish use of "that abominable staff called whiskey"?

I don't believe you intend to take the position that it would be a vice to do at some future time what you hold it to be a vice to do today.

You say "We are in hard times and a disgrace to any part of any country to have such a campaign as we have had in this country in the last three or four weeks." Indeed it is, brother Jones. Yet you urge the Democrats to "rally round the polls" and elect men to office who have sold a shameful and disgraceful campaign!"

You say "We are in hard times and a disgrace to any part of any country to have such a campaign as we have had in this country in the last three or four weeks." Indeed it is, brother Jones. Yet you urge the Democrats to "rally round the polls" and elect men to office who have sold a shameful and disgraceful campaign!"

Yes, by all means, when ten, boy, "raise hell" on the polls, and elect your county officials for the next four years the men who won their nominations by using money (chiefly in whiskey) and debauching and demoralizing our people! But at the same time remember that you will take a "solemn vow" never to do so again. When you "raise hell" on the polls, and elect to a lot of men, who won their nominations in a campaign (which, themselves, conducted) that has made "drunkards worse, if possible, and many moderate drinkers, drunks" and that has ruined many of all classes on the roads to ruin, degradation, poverty, and to be plunged headlong into hell!—but take a "solemn vow" you will never do it again.

Brother Jones, I wish your purpose was as good for the present as it is for the future. I would applaud your resolution doubly, if it were. You want an organization of 100,000 here to be made to band themselves together for purposes of reform in the future; but, Mr. Jones, we need 500 true men now, who will try to redeem old Meade from the disgrace of the recent whiskey pri-

Sales Talk.

With Hood's Sarsaparilla, "Sales Talk" shows that this medicine has enjoyed public confidence and patronage to a greater extent than any other proprietary medicine.

It is almost impossible to write out the list on the county's name by defeating the whole outfit nominated at your recent Democratic (whiskey) primary. Will you be one of the 1,000, brother Jones? If not, why try to get men to take a vow in the future to do a similar thing?

Wouldn't it be a most wholesome example for future campaigns if the nominees should all be defeated. Let us teach them that we do not want drunkards and debasers made out of our youth. Undoubtedly, the public opinion of the people should be educated in our country, our youth and old age of our country, that this cannot be done by the power to office, who do all in their power to lower the standard of public morality by using corrupt agencies to win elections.

Let us teach them that the only way to win elections is to be honest and upright, when we elevate to places of public trust, men, who are guilty of making drunkards worse, and moderate drinkers, drunks, and starting many of all classes headstrong on the downward road to hell!—If the shoe fits, wear it.

You know "who wears some of the mudholes, or perhaps any of them, when they are elected, how they feel when they hold up their right hand and swear in the presence of God, and the witnesses that may be present at the time, that they never used money or any other thing of value directly or indirectly to voters or to get them?"

Oh, they won't have any swing of conscience at all. Men who will make drunkards of our young men and start many of all classes downward on the road to hell!—It will not hesitate to violate the laws of God and man to win an election, will also violate the laws of God and law.

With us, brother Jones, and let's defeat the whole outfit at the next regular election.

How prosperity May Be Regained.

[See Note at Top.]

"My most tried remedy is Time. I am a man dedicated to the wife of a woman who is now the head of the Roman Catholic Church. Certainly it is a counselor whose judgment may well be taken when the facts are clear and the decision definite. Nearly twenty years ago there was pending in the Congress of the United States bill to prohibit the importation of cattle of either sex at the ratio with gold of 15 to 1. The country was still under the heavy burden of the crash of 1873, and the advocates of this bill, Republicans as well as Democrats, urged that relief from that burden was to be had only by providing for the importation of cattle. You will find more information in the "Times" of April 10, 1873. In this issue is the bill in the House, A. S. Hewitt. He opposed the bill with all his characteristic energy, breadth, and seriousness, and in doing so discussed the general problem, "How prosperity may be regained?" To-day the country is under number of another burdensome bills, and the advocates of the same are more numerous. The Congress needs to-morrow to resume the study of that same problem. Though the remedy proposed is no longer inflation, it is well worth while to view the statement of Mr. Hewitt at that time, to test the soundness of the views he held then—and still holds in common with the sound-minded men of this country. Let me repeat, to have the same idea happen, and to take the advice of the "trusted counselor, Time," as to their bearing on the present situation.

Of the Free College bill Mr. Hewitt predicted—and the prediction was true, though the bill was modified—"I wish to put it on record that it will cost more and aggravate the present distresses than any other bill."
